Japanese Murdered at Paauilo.

The Usual Batch of Kicks and Other Interesting News From the Rainy City.

Now Paauilo has a murder case with some of the elements of mystery surrounding it. The man who stands charged with the murder and the victim are Japanese who have lived on the island for some time. The murder was committed last Saturday afternoon and Sheriff Andrews, who happened to be in the vicinity, conducted an inquest. The facts brought out at the inquest were as follows:

Sakuda Mineza and Fujihara Orem were laborers on a ranch owned by Miss Annie Horner, and which is superintended by another Japanese. On Saturday morning Fujihara induced Sakuda to go with him to a place about one mile from the ranch for the purpose of gathering milkweed for the cows. The men left, one riding horseback and the other walking. About 3 p. m. Mrs. Brako heard a gun shot, but paid no attention to it until she had heard a Japanese was shot.

Some time after one shooting Sakuda walked into the ranch house and told the Japanese woman he had been shot and showed his wound. He asked permission to remain there saying Fujihara had shot him and he was afraid to go home as Fujihara might kill him. That night the man died and the shooter was placed under arrest next morning. A Portuguese gave evidence that a Japanese had been to him with a proposition to exchange a clock for a shot gun, that he had let him have the gun Friday afternoon and that it had been returned to his house about four o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Japanese and left in a damaged condition; the ram rod missing and a screw lost. That the Japanese had returned later and tendered payment for the injury done. In the meantime Fujihara was arrested and the Portuguese at once identified him as the man. The prisoner denied it and remarked that he had never seen the gun and did not know how to shoot. Other witnesses swore that the man was a good shot at quail hunting. Japanese testified that Fujihara came to the house where the wounded man was and left without making inquiry regarding his condition.

The prisoner made a statement admitting that he was in the woods with Sakuda and that while they were separated he heard a shot and called to his companion but receiving no answer he ran away, fearing some one might hurt him. He denied shooting the man and said he knew nothing concerning the case. Sakuda made an antemortem statement to his friends that while standing at the top of a rise of ground he heard the shot and felt the sting of the wound and on looking around saw Fujihara running away with the gun in his hand. He stated that when they went out together Saturday morning neither of them had a gun with them. As Fujihara borrowed the gun late Friday afternoon it is supposed he took it to the place where the shooting occurred and hid it in the bushes preparatory to use when he should see his victim to the spot. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of guilty against Fujihara and bound him over for trial at the July term. Sakuda's wife was held as a witness.

After the jury was discharged information was brought to the sheriff that it was believed an intimacy had existed between the wife of Sakuda and Fujihara. That the wife had absented herself from home the greater part of Saturday, that this was unusual and in the light of subsequent events it was thought she had cognizance of the intention of Fujihara to kill her husband. The prisoner was brought to Hilo by Sheriff Andrews yesterday. Herald.

The Postal Surplus.

The Tribune acknowledges the receipt of the Postmaster General's report for the preceding year, which contains many matters of interest and many more which we passed over lightly; long columns of figures being confusing to the editorial mind. We have, however, gathered this fact, or rather it was gathered for us and presented so clearly that there was no missing it. The receipts of the department for the year 1899 exceeded its expenditures by $50,000, all of which said $50,000 went by the peculiar process of the Hawaiian Government machinery into the general treasury, whence it is now appropriated out by the Council of State for various unauthorized public works, mostly between Diamond Head and Ewa, while the postal department itself is so destitute of funds that a number of employees have been discharged and the rest have their salaries reduced from ten to twenty per cent.

Now, when a postal department makes money, at least when it turns a surplus into the national treasury, there is something very rotten in the government system. A proper postal system makes money fast and spends it a little faster in perfecting itself. A worse and more unsatisfactory conveyance and distribution of mail could not easily be found than that of Hawaii. Through slow and uncertain transmission of letters hundreds of thousands of dollars are, without doubt, yearly lost to the business interests of the country. If the department makes $50,000 why isn't it put into subsidies to steamship companies and common carriers, into adding to the number of employees, instead of reducing them? A surplus of $50,000 and it takes from seven days to two weeks to get a mail from Honolulu to Hilo, and when it gets here it lies twelve hours on a steamer, because no one is paid to be responsible for sending it ashore. The Council of State wishes to usurp legislative functions, let it do a little usurping in the postal department.—Tribune.

Still In Doubt.

Whether glanders has appeared among the animals at Oia plantation or whether the disease is something else seems to be undecided, but a majority of the veterinarians who have seen the animals agree that the disease is glanders. Dr. H. R. Elliot, the local veterinarian, declares on examination of the diseased mules that glanders was the complaint. He afterwards had the animals examined by Dr. Deane of the transport Aztec, Dr. Bishop of the Conemaugh, Dr. Kelly of the Leelanaw and Dr. Owens of the Lennox. These surgeons agreed with Dr. Elliot's diagnosis. Dr. Bishop going so far as to say that a post-mortem was not necessary. Dr. Jones, of the Siam, took a different view from his colleagues and said emphatically that the disease was not glanders. The sugar company decided, then, to have a consultation of surgeons at which Drs. Jones, Elliot and Owens should be present. This was held at 10 a. m. Tuesday and it was there decided to shoot the one horse that was sick. Before a post-mortem was held Dr. Owens was called back to the transport and an examination was held by Drs. Elliot and Jones. Each was as emphatic as before and an agreement could not be reached. Portions of the glands were removed and packed in ice for removal to Honolulu where they will be examined by veterinarians there. Dr. Elliot states that he found sufficient bacilli of glanders to inoculate every horse on the islands.—Herald.

About the Bridges.

The narrow width of the bridges that are being constructed by the Government in and near Hilo is a cause for much complaint. Hilo is not a one-horse town to such an extent that it finds a one-horse bridge sufficient for its needs, and the new bridges may properly be considered one-horse affairs, since two teams can hardly pass each other on them. Hilo teamsters are both pious in disposition and Chesterfieldian in manner, but it can hardly be wondered at that they sometimes fall out over questions of precedence and right-of-way, using language that would shock a deaf man, when they get blocked up in large numbers as they frequently do at the Waialae and Waiuku bridges. The worst of it is that the new bridges are no better. The pedestrian, also, has a kick. Strictly speaking, a pedestrian has no rights which anybody is bound to respect. The man who walks instead of taking a hack puts himself outside the pale of human sympathy to a large extent. However, sometimes you can't get a hack. In any case if the man who walks attempts to cross on the above mentioned bridges he is a good candidate for sausage meat. He would better swim. It has been suggested that the road board build onto the regular bridge structure sidewalks outside the railings, which would then separate the teams from the pedestrians, and be a convenience for both. This is quite generally done throughout the United States, and where traffic is at all heavy public safety demands it.—Tribune.

Paauilo Police.

A funny story regarding the efficiency of the police force at Paauilo is wafted over from that plantation on a recent breeze. It seems that on Saturday night the "force" decided to raid some Japanese gamblers and on reaching the place where the men were playing placed eight under arrest and seized the layout and money. Three of the men were released upon depositing $8 bail "per each" and they announced that they would go back to camp and secure funds for the release of their compatriots. Instead of returning with money they brought back about 200 Japanese who demanded, 1st. The release of the prisoners. 2d. The return of bail money deposited. 3d. The refunding of the money gathered from the table during the raid, and 4th. The return of a book in which the names of witnesses were written. Believing that discretion has a clench on valor the jailer yielded and the incident was closed until Sheriff Andrews heard of it. Four of the gamblers were re-arrested, deposited bail and afterwards forfeited. One man, identified as having made demands upon the jailer, was tried, convicted, and fined $100, which his friends will pay.—Herald.

Society Notes.

On Sunday, March 25, in response to an invitation extended by Dr. Owen of the transport Lennox, a merry party visited the ship. They were most courteously received and charmingly entertained by Captain Butt, Dr. Eruait, W. M. Whitehead, representative of O'Brien & Co., Portland, Chief Engineer Duguid, and First and Second Officers Warren and Mackenzie of the Lennox. They dined with each other in their endeavors to make the afternoon one of pleasure and succeeded beyond their expectations. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Forrest entertained a few of their many friends on Saturday evening, March 24. Mrs. Forrest is an ideal hostess and possesses the happy faculty of making her guests feel perfectly at home. Dancing was the order of the evening which was enjoyed by all. Promptly at twelve the guests, who numbered twenty-five, joined hands in a circle and sang Auld Lang Syne.

On Monday evening there was an informal affair at the Hilo hotel in honor of the officers of the transports Siam and Lennox. There were about forty couples present and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.—Herald.

Fish Inspection.

Peddling of fish on the streets of Hilo and without inspection goes on as merrily as in days of yore. Dr. Moore states that the men have been notified that if they sell elsewhere than in the regularly established market they will be arrested and fined. Up to date the police records do not show that the men or any of them have been arrested. The records are clean in this respect presumably because the police are aware that until such a notice from the Board of Health or the authorized agents of the Board of Health is published such arrests would be illegal. The sale of fish on the streets should be prohibited in a legal manner and the fish sold in the market should be inspected. The Agent of the Board of Health in Hilo has the power to make such a regulation and there is not a single reason why it should not be made and enforced.—Herald.

Steamboat Changes.

Superintendent McKay of the Western S. S. Co. has made the following changes in masters of steamers at this port:

Captain Mitchell of the Hawaii to take the Maui.
Captain Parker of the Kalaupapa transferred to the Heleia.
Captain Nielsen to steamer Hawaii.
Captain Sachs to Kalaupapa.

These changes are temporary as Capt. MacAllister of the Kilauea Hou will soon leave for Honolulu as a witness in the Carson case.—Herald.

Will Select Site.

James B. Castle and Lorrin A. Thurston of the Oia Sugar Co., and C. Heidenreich of the Honolulu Iron Works, came to Puna on the Mauna Loa on Saturday last and are now inspecting the work done on the Oia Sugar Co. While here they will probably decide finally the location of the mill site. These gentlemen went into quarantine before leaving Honolulu. They will visit Puna Sugar Co. before returning to Honolulu.—Herald.

The News Boiled Down.

Miss Anna Rice is confined to the hospital with an attack of fever. A limited amount of island butter was received in Hilo last week. There is no information at hand as to more transports coming to Hilo. Dr. W. G. Irwin has been confined to his house for some time with malarial fever.

Business men generally are incensed over the lack of appropriations made for Hilo. Dr. H. M. Elliot has resigned his position as veterinarian to the Oia Sugar Co. It is reported upon good authority that a Japanese bank will soon be established in Hilo.

The contract for grading the Puna branch of the Hilo R. R. will probably be let early next week. A. Zornow, G. F. Maydwell will probably act as clerk of the court for the Kalaupapa in place of Daniel Porter.

The body of a native sailor who died on Tuesday and buried at Hilo. Mr. Metz, sanitary inspector for the Board of Health, will probably make a trip around the island in a few weeks. Mr. C. E. Richardson has been confined to his bed during the past two weeks with a rather severe attack of illness.

Mr. W. S. Terry is now well on the way to recovery from typhoid fever, by which he has been for some time confined to the Hilo Hospital. The recent rains have been of great benefit to the plantations. At Oia in the vicinity of nine miles the cane shows great improvement.

Carl S. Smith received his commission as acting Deputy Attorney General for the Third Judicial Circuit last Monday and left next day for Kilauea to prosecute the cases there. There are at present a rather large number of cases of typhoid and malarial fever in town. This may result from the stirring up of old microbes by the vigorous work of the sanitary committee.

Mrs. Cruzan is still suffering from her recent attack of heart trouble. As soon as she is able Mrs. Cruzan will go to the Shipman mountain residence for the benefit to be derived from a change of climate.

P. Peck, manager of the First Bank of Hilo, Ltd., on the occasion of opening that institution sent a letter to Rev. S. L. Desha, containing a check for $25 as a donation to the Hall church from the bank.

The completion of the Waianaeue street sewer and its discharge into the Waiuku enables the citizen to go to the postoffice after his monthly installment of bills without risk of catching typhoid germs and bubonic microbes.

A meeting will be called in a short time for the purpose of making arrangements for a local baseball league. With new material to strengthen the old, and new grounds for practice and games, the sport should come out of the chrysalis stage this year and resemble the real thing.

A Chinese of ambitious temperament, enlightened by the land grabbing propensities of his Western brethren, is taking a squat upon the land claimed by the Spreckels interests on the makai side of Front street. He will erect a "skyscraper" there and take his chances, so far as the Spreckels people are concerned. As for the Government, which some years ago condemned all this tract for public purposes, there is little danger of any action being taken within the next decade.

It is reported that the "Lennox" carried away two dead mules when she left Hilo. Why she took them away isn't known. Perhaps because it seemed desirable to keep the fact from being known. Perhaps they couldn't afford to bury them at Hilo. The probabilities are that there will be a good many more dead ones before the transport reaches Manila. Fifty days on his feet in a stall is rather too much for the obstinacy of even a mule. If, as is stated, the orders that the "Lennox" had were the same as those of the other transports that came here there will be trouble for some one if the stock arrives at Manila in bad shape.

IT IS DANGEROUS TO NEGLECT A COLD.

Pneumonia is one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases. It always results from a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and perhaps prevent an attack of pneumonia. It is in fact made especially for that ailment and has become famous for its cures over a large part of the civilized world. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Can you afford to neglect your cold when so reliable a remedy can be had for a trifle? For sale by all druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for H. I.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla
"It is I could only get a little rest." How many tired women say this? They are exhausted, depressed, discouraged. Even after sleeping they find themselves just as tired as before. Not a part of the body escapes from the hardaches and pains. You should have all impurities removed from your blood and your nerves greatly strengthened.

Death of D. W. Roach.

D. W. Roach, one of Honolulu's best known barbers, died last night of pneumonia after a short illness. He leaves a widow and two children. Roach came to this city over a dozen years ago after working at his trade on the Australia for some time. He had a shop on the corner of Hotel and Fort streets for many years and after the fire went into partnership with Bert Bower in the Criterion shop. He was in his thirties and had an extensive acquaintance. He was a member of Mystic Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

Captain Goodman.

Captain Goodman of the schooner Robert Lewers is to take command of the ship Wallace B. Flint, recently purchased by Alexander & Baldwin for the sugar trade. She is now on her way to Honolulu, and Captain Goodman will probably meet her there on his arrival in the Lewers. The latter vessel has been detained here nearly three weeks, owing to quarantine and a death. The cabin boy, a Japanese named Hironao, was dying with consumption when the schooner reached port. Quarantine Officer Kinyoun instructed the immigration officer not to land the man, so he remained aboard and died Tuesday night. Captain Goodman wanted to send the remains to the Morgue, but the officials would not receive them. The health authorities were then notified, but up to last night had taken no action. If the body is not removed to-day Captain Goodman will take it to sea and bury it.—S. F. Call.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Moana spoke the Mariposa on Thursday afternoon.

The Boston Lyric Company recently played to poor business at San Diego, Cal.

A bag containing coin has been lost and a reward of $50 is offered for its return.

Mrs. Penhallow, wife of Captain Penhallow of the Adze Cooke, arrived in the Gaelic.

Typhoid pneumonia is taking hold of many persons. Several business men are reported ill from this ailment.

The steamer Charles Nelson will not go to Makaweli on this trip. According to latest advices she was to load in San Francisco for Hanalei.

F. J. Cross will not have to go to Europe. The experts, with equipment, will arrive here on April 25 to install the wireless telegraph system.

Back and fumigating rooms are being built on the Inter-island and Wilder wharves for the accommodation of the sailors on the island steamers.

Ewa promises an unusual yield this year. The sugar per acre is not only increased, but the soil continues to improve, as is shown in the extra purity of the cane juice.

The baseball game yesterday between the Orpheum minstrels and the Stars of Honolulu is said to have netted about $400 for the widow of the late Toyo Jackson. The game was arranged for her benefit.

Quite a number of people who intended to go on the next Australia will endeavor to leave on the Nippon Maru. In the party are the Waterhouses and the Dickers. They have taken the prophylactic.

The wedding of Prof. S. P. French, principal of Punahou Preparatory school, to Miss Florence Kelsey will take place on the evening of April 12th at the residence of W. R. Castle. They will remain at Oahu College until the summer vacation when they will go abroad.

S. E. Burton, carpenter, is the first man to receive $100, for reporting a plague case. He was a friend of John Hurley, the Vineyard street victim of the plague, and first reported Hurley's sickness to the Board of Health. Hurley complained to him of having a bubo in the right groin.

The Fire Commissioners stated to the Council of State Committee on Interior Department that if there had been more hose available on January 26 the fire would have been contained to throw six streams of water instead of two, and much severe loss along the waterfront would have been averted.

Leigh H. Irvine, one of the correspondents who came here in 1893 convicted John R. Musick, author of "Hawaii, Our New Possession," of plagiarism. The best piece of description in the book, that of Haleakala, is taken from Mr. Irvine's booklet, "The Palace of the Sun."

Lack of rain on Hawaii is making cattle feed a vital question. The animals are dying at Kan in numbers. If rain does not fall soon the herds will be wiped out. At Oia many mules are dying of a mysterious disease. Tissues of the dead mules have been brought here for the purpose of diagnosing the disease.

Heater Kidd, chief engineer of the Colonial Sugar Refining Co. of Sydney, arrived by the Moana yesterday to investigate methods of sugar-making in Hawaii. Mr. Kidd went directly to Ewa plantation, and under the quarantine laws was transferred to the tug, to the railway wharf and aboard the Ewa train. He will remain in Hawaii some time. He brings letters to Dr. Walker Maxwell of Honolulu.

The Makawao literary society at Paia, Maui, held its March meeting on March 15, at the residence of Manager W. J. Lowrie, Spreckelsville. An enjoyable program was rendered. Miss Featherstone gave a piano solo. Mr. Lowrie sang a solo. Andrew Adams read a selection. Mrs. Van der Naillen played a zither. Mrs. W. S. Nicoll sang. Dr. Beckwith read and Master Willie Lowrie closed the evening's entertainment with a song.
